Existenzminimum
in shifting paradigm

towards a design for extremity (in Hong Kong)

why can´t you search for a toliet down here?
and hey, be careful with my phone!

How should we rethink Existenzminimum in times of socio-political crisis, and opportunties offered by technologies (Network technology, material technology, locative media) ?

What can media & architecture do to free us from the burden of living?

Can we design for the lightness of being in cities of the future?

Where does ____ begin and ____ end, and vice versa?

connection | otherness

freedom | homelessness

privacy | publicity

solitude | liveliness

possession | sharing
